My vision for Outletcity Metzingen

"In 1995, I worked with Holy AG to sow the seeds of the Outletcity Metzingen success story. I wanted to be the first to bring the outlet concept over to Germany from the USA and build on this to create a successful business model. My vision back then wasn't based on the idea of giant shopping centres in the middle of nowhere. Instead, I had my mind set on sophisticated architecture that would blend perfectly with Metzingen's urban backdrop. And this is exactly what I have managed to achieve. We are now the number one outlet destination in Europe, offering customers a unique premium and luxury shopping experience. My vision for the future is to build on Outletcity Metzingen's reputation as Europe's leading premium and luxury outlet and turn it into a destination that people flock to from all over the world for an unforgettable experience. We will be focusing even more on our customers by combining the in-store and digital retail experience in a holistic approach. We plan to lead the way with our digitalisation and customer centricity."
